Included in the 1876 Adair County Atlas is “A Sketch of Adair County” by Dr. A. H. John, which gives a concise overview of the county at that time.

Following this are lists of “Patron’s Business References” by township, telling the section, township and range of their property, where they were born and when they settled in Adair County.

Dr. A. H. John was a medical doctor. He was born in Ohio and came to Adair County in 1863. Dr. John owned a farm of 520 acres on Hog Creek, 10 miles south west of Kirksville, Section 5, Township 6, Range 16 (1876 Atlas). The August 8, 1871 Kirksville Democrat lists Dr. John as a Marshall in the laying of the cornerstone for the First District Normal School in Kirksville. The September 2, 1886 Kirksville Democrat mentions Dr. John as publisher of the Kirksville Democrat in 1871 and 1872.

Violette’s History of Adair County, p. 31 states: Data concerning the birth and death of A. H. John is lacking. —For years he was a prominent character, especially in politics. He was much of an agitator and not only spoke, but wrote several books on various economic questions. He was at one time editor of the Kirksville Democrat. The period of his greatest activity was in the 1870’s and 80’s.

SKETCH OF ADAIR COUNTY, MISSOURI

By A. H. John, M. D.

DESCRIPTION

The large and handsome County of Adair is situated in the north-eastern part of the State of Missouri, and is bounded on the north by Schyler and Putnam, on the east by Knox, on the south by Macon and on the west by Sullivan Counties.

The general surface of the County is undulating, presenting a very favorable view to the beholder, and an especially inviting one to the husbandman. About one-half of the County is prairie and the balance is covered with a luxuriant growth of timber of the best quality, Oak, Walnut, Hickory, Linn, Sugar tree and Cottonwood, besides other valuable varieties.

Chariton River runs from north to south through the west half of the County and Salt River in the eastern part; and better valley lands are not to be found in any part of the west; the greater portion of the soil being alluvial and containing an extraordinary amount of organic matter. On these lands are raised Corn, Wheat, Rye, Oats and Timothy in great abundance. The prairie lands produce, exceedingly well, all of the above cereals except wheat, which does best in the timbered lands; but they are so easily cultivated that it makes them very desirable and inviting. In fact the farmer or artizan need go no further to better his condition, for the fertility of the soil, and the general thrift and enterprise of the inhabitants, as well as their agreeable and social qualities, cannot fail to produce a favorable opinion, and attract those who are seeking and desirable location.

HISTORY

The first attempt at a settlement was made in 1828 by several families from Howard and Randolph Counties, but owing to difficulties with the Indians, they were compelled to abandon the enterprise. In 1831-2 Kentucky, as usual, in early times, sent out her pioneers, among whom were John Stewart, Andrew Thompson, John Cain, Jesse Jones, R. W. and Frazil Myers, the father of John Collett, James Adkins, Washington and Lewis Conner. These were soon followed by Kennedy Ownby, D. E. Sloan, the father of Wm. and Ed. Parcels, the Linders, the Ives, and others.

Adair County became organized January 29th, 1841, and the County-seat was located by Commissioners within two and one-half miles of the present position. The first Magistrate in the County was John Michael. James A. Clark was the first Circuit Judge. The first Clerk was David James, and Isaac N. Eby the first Sheriff.

MINERALS, &c.

The entire County is underlaid with Coal of the very best quality. Sandstone and Limestone for building purposes are in super abundance on all the Creeks.

RAILROADS

The St. Louis, Kansas City and Northern Railroad running directly through the County from north to south, and the Quincy, Missouri and Pacific Railroad from the east, ending for the present at Kirksville, afford excellent travelling facilities as well as furnishing a means of export and import.

WEALTH

The valuation was $10,202,000 in 1870, as stated by the census, but at present it would probably double that amount, owing to the rapid increase of immigration and general improvements.

EDUCATION

By far the most important feature connected with the best interests of the County is its educational facilities, for the citizens pride themselves on a thorough scholastic acquaintance. There are eighty Public School houses where instruction is given, besides several private schools. The general attendance of pupils is about 5,000. The North Missouri State Normal School is located here. This institution grew out of a similar school originally established at Kirksville by Prof. Joseph Baldwin on his own account, and through his energy and perseverance, well educated teachers are now sent forth to the world at the rate of five or six hundred annually.

The school was first opened in 1867 and has grown to magnificent proportions and become a great importance. Too much praise cannot be said in favor of the liberal support of the State or the citizens of the County, as well as the deep interest manifested by all classes in the cause of education. No better institution exists.

KIRKSVILLE

The affable and agreeable disposition of its citizens has attracted the attention of those seeking a new location, until Kirksville has doubled its population within three or four years. It is situated on the St. Louis, Kansas City and Northern Railroad, 203 miles from St. Louis, and 70 miles west of Quincy, on the Quincy, Missouri and Pacific Railroad, being on the grand divide between the waters of the Mississippi and Missouri Rivers, where the best of water for family purposes can be obtained at a depth of from 15 to 20 feet.

The town was laid out in 1842, and named in honor of Jesse Kirk. It became incorporated in 1857. Wm. Lough, John Thomas, M. P. Hannah, O. H. Beeman, J. C. Thatcher, John D. Foster and E. W. Parsons, who are now living, were the first Board of Trustees. The citizens are noted for their morality and intelligence, and a more orderly town cannot be found.

The Churches are the M. E. Church and the M. E. Church South, Presbyterian, Cumberland Presbyterian, Baptist, Free Will Baptist, Christian, Episcopal and Colored Baptist. Beside these there are also societies of Universalists and Spiritualists, all of which taken together, evinces a strong desire to elevate man.

There are two Newspapers, the "REGISTER," W. C. B. Gillespie, Publisher, and the "JOURNAL," S. M. Picken, Publisher, besides a Job Office; two Banking Houses; fourteen Dry Goods Stores; four Clothing Stores; two Book Stores; nine Grocery Stores; two Furniture Stores; five Drug Stores; two Jewelry Stores; three Hardware Stores; two Saddle and Harness Shops; three Lumber Yards; two Wagon Shops; four Hotels; two Hide, Fur and Wool purchasing Stores; two Brick Yards, (near town,) two Marble Shops; three Grain Warehouses and two Hay Establishments.

There are also two Grist Mills; one Woolen Mill; one Plow Factory; one Hub and Spoke Factory; one Cheese Factory; one Planing Mill and Furniture Factory.

Water, Wood and Coal being of easy access recommends this town as a very desirable place for manufacturing purposes. Population 4,000.

VILLAGES AND POST OFFICES

BRASHEARS, (Paulville,) on the Q.M.&P.R.R., twelve miles east of Kirksville, contains about six stores, a Saw and Grist Mill, a Grain Warehouse, Hay Press, School House, and United Brethren Church. It is the heaviest Shipping Point in the County, except Kirksville; being surrounded by a good producing District. Population 200.

MILIARD is a thriving Village on the St. L., K.C.&N.R.R., seven miles south of Kirksville, containing three Stores, Warehouse, Hay Press, School House, Church &c. Population 120.

NINEVEH is a German Town, owned by a Society after the manner of the Fourierites, located about eight and a half miles (air line) N. W. of Kirksville, on the Chariton River, which is bridged at this point. It contains a Church, School House, two Stores, Saw and Grist Mill, and a Tannery. Population 100.

SUBLETTE, on the St. L., K.C.&N.R.R., seven miles north of Kirksville, contains two Stores, a Grain Warehouse and Hay Press, and does a large Shipping Business.

TROY MILLS, four miles south of Kirksville, contains a large Woolen Mill.

WILMATHVILLE, thirteen miles N.E. of Kirksville, contains two Stores, a Church and School House. Population 75.

WILSON, sixteen miles S. E. of Kirksville, contains two Stores, Church, School House, &c. Population 50.

SHIBLEY'S POINT, seventeen miles north-west of Kirksville, contains one Store.

RINGO'S POINT, eighteen miles south-west of Kirksville, contains one Store.

FLOYD'S CREEK, is a Post Office eight miles north-east of Kirksville.

LINDERVILLE and ZIG are Post Offices, respectively eleven and thirteen miles south-west from Kirksville, and PRAIRIE BIRD Post Office is situated ten miles south-east.

Adair County is possessed of many natural advantages, and a few points furnish peculiar inducements in regard to location; among them Hog Creek stands preeminent. It is so named in consequence of the coutrange for Hogs being unsurpassed.

In fact, all the tributaries of the Chariton hold out great inducements to the new comer.

In conclusion it is not too much to say that, in addition to her natural advantages, Adair County is peopled by a class of Citizens unequalled in geniality and hospitality, and a warm welcome is extended to all who are seeking a home.
